The Gallery Hospitality Critic Review

Introduction

The Gallery Restaurant is on the upper level of a 2-storey marquee structure, of which The Lawn Club occupies the lower level. The Gallery offers a more formal setting than the Lawn Club, however, it is still relaxed dining. It has a capacity of 370 guests.

Location

The Gallery Restaurant is situated in an elevated location, at the far end of the Queen Anne Enclosure, approx. 300m from the Winning Post. It is a little walk to reach the Parade Ring from this facility.

Facility/Décor

There is a private veranda, which provides a great vantage point for the Royal Procession and racing action.

Private Tables

Private tables are available for groups of 2-12 guests.

Admission

This facility is situated within the Queen Anne Enclosure, where your ticket will allow access into the Parade Ring and also enjoy the post-racing tradition of singing around the bandstand. You cannot access the Royal Enclosure with this admission ticket. All guests are asked to adhere to Ascot's dress code, which for the Queen Anne Enclosure advises that Ladies should dress in a manner that befits a formal occasion and gentlemen should wear a suit with collared shirt and tie.

Catering

Drinks

There is a Mercier Brut Champagne reception. The bar is complimentary and includes beers, selected wines, spirits and soft drinks. Please note however that champagne is an extra charge.

Service

Service is left to the waiting-staff, there is not a hostess service.

Entertainment

There is no racing tipster included in this package.

Audio-Visual

There are ample TV screens for guests to enjoy the proceedings from the comfort of their table. There is also a large viewing screen opposite the facility, which enhances your views of the racing.
